Heavy rain may affect southeast England through Friday and into Saturday, leading to possible flooding and difficult travel conditions.

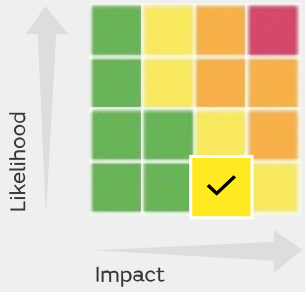
What to expect

- Spray and flooding could lead to difficult driving conditions and some road closures
- Where flooding occurs, there is a slight chance of delays or cancellations to train and bus services
- There is a small chance that homes and businesses could be flooded, causing damage to some buildings

Further details

A slow-moving rainband is expected to stay close to southeast England through Friday and well into Saturday. Some heavy rain seems likely, with the possibility of 30 - 40 mm falling in 2 to 3 hours in a few locations, and maybe over 70 mm overall - but still a fair chance that the heaviest of the rain might stay just offshore.

The heaviest rainfall looks like moving away, or at least easing, beyond midday Saturday.



Very low likelihood of medium impacts
